Hi readers;

You will notice the format and layout of this issue is different. I usually write out all of the text in Microsoft Word and transfer it over to Ventura Publisher so I can use all those nice fonts, lines, boxes etc. However I'm having trouble with Ventura, I installed extra RAM in my computer and it has effected my Ventura Software. It runs so slow its almost unusable. Apparently its installed wrong so I didn't use it this issue. The whole newsletter is written in Microsoft Word and printed out in word. I should have this fixed by the next issue and we can have our pictures, lines etc. back in use.

Thanks for bearing with me. I write this newsletter so we can all share and learn. If you have any ideas about things you would like to see in it let me know.

I have had many questions about the spiritual information that I have learned from my trips over to visit with Billy so I have devoted this issue to that subject.

Enjoy your reading.

Thanks;

R. Winters

A note from the author.....

Since 1975 when Billy Meier began to take his beautiful clear daytime photos of Pleiadian Spacecraft, he has drawn the attention of millions of people all around the world. The visitors from the Pleiades have spent years in the education of Billy Meier as part of a slow educational process to begin to awaken the sleeping humanity of earth to a greater life which awaits us throughout the Universe. There is a large family of man throughout this Universe, some less advanced than us and many that are far more advanced.

Throughout Billy's contacts with the Pleiadians we have learned a lot about a variety of subjects, but most importantly are the lessons of Life and Death, since any real information about this subject is not generally known in our current society. I'm quite often asked many questions about this subject during lectures and find there is a great void of human knowledge in this area.

I have devoted this edition of our newsletter to this subject and feature to articles which should prove both enlightening and fascinating. This first article is written by Billy and is called Life in the Physical and Spiritual. This is a small booklet written by Billy many years ago. I had it translated a couple of years ago, but it has never been published. Contained within this small booklet you will find food for your spirit in the form of truthful and logical words for your digestion. I use the word digestion since truthful deductions and food to your spirit are just as table food is for your body. The purpose of your material life is to gain information through experiences with your senses. You then use your material intellect to make your own logical deductions from this information. When you have made the right deductions according to the real truth in Creation and begin to live your life based on this truth you then feed that truth to your spirit. This is spiritual growth and the reason you are alive.

Semjase made it clear to Billy that the spiritual knowledge that she and her people have was the main reason for the contacts. They felt this was the most important part of their mission to Earth. They view earth as being spiritually stagnant and misguided by religious concepts and hoped to provide us with truthful information that could help us to begin to grow spiritually again in the right direction.

The second article is taken from Billy's Contact Notes during one of Semjase's many dissertations. It is a small part of the spiritual teachings that she passed on to Billy. In later newsletters I will try to put more of this information in for you.

The Questions and Answers section is devoted to Spiritual questions this issue, just to keep within a theme.

So enjoy, and Saalome

LIFE IN THE PHYSICAL AND SPIRITUAL

Written by Eduard "Billy" Meier

The terrestrial human race has entered a phase, witnessed by a radical powerful cosmic change. It is a new era, a new age, which continually and distinctly becomes clearer before the eyes of the beholder of spiritually evolving human beings. Nevertheless, the majority of mankind on earth lies in a deep abyss of ignorance and intellectual enslavement, so that it has become a pressing necessity to investigate the cause of its fall very thoroughly, and to demonstrate this to humanity in a correct, clear and revealing message and lesson. Simultaneously, it has also become necessary to show new ways, which guide towards a spiritually comprehensive and spiritually harmonious future. Thence, the earthling may open his eyes and ears in order to separate from his enslaved thoughts from erroneous dogma, to free himself from old traditional untruths and all evil, and to finally be able to comprehend everything. The earthling may therefore open his spiritual consciousness to recognize the truth. He may look up into the infinite of the distant space of the universe, where the stars rule timelessly in majestic peace and exaltation. He may look up to these stars, which orbit in creative order through millennium of years, in harmony of the universally valid laws of Creation and in fulfillment of the commandments to comply with.

All these stars, as earth itself, are being ruled by creative laws and order, which are arranged in the logic and love of Creation itself. It is eternal governing and growing, timeless existence and ceasing in the endless beginning. And the earthling may then look down the his earth, because yonder also, the same laws and rules of Creation are bin executed in intimately fused order. Man, the earth and all its manifold forms of life come under these laws and rules, as small, but important link, in the chain of all creative Creation.

Where nature living by its creative laws and rules, untouched by human hand and intactly accomplishes its existence, reign absolute and perfect beauty, strength, dignity and harmonious greatness, without hierarchy. However, everywhere where there are traces of human intervention, willful illogical order and corrections are conspicuous, all beauty, strength, dignity, order and greatness, disappears.

Harmony is destroyed, changed and made impossible. Nature then becomes an entirely unwilling witness of the absurdity and folly of the earthling, who would like to define himself as crown Creation. As self-appointed crown of Creation, he lives in his delusion and is not aware of the fact, that he only crowned himself and is not worth of it. The crown in question is far too big, which he can not carry and which threatens to crush him under its weight. Truly, the earthling has developed himself and splendidly advanced until now and to the change of the coming year 2,000, and has brought himself to the edge of a deep abyss and before the fangs of the beast of lunacy - driven by false prophecies and cults of malicious degeneration, which brought about hatred, greed, vice, misery, lust and bloodshed. And the earthling, the self-appointed crown of Creation, he who want to rule the world and the Universe, he who conquered the air, water and fire, has long ago forgotten how to be a true and sincere human being who thinks, acts and lives by pure spiritual standards. Hence, he has fundamentally forgotten how to personally live as valuable human being in the community of human beings. All his conditions strive toward pure material and materialistic objects and concerns, and moreover, he badly disregards all objects of spiritual nature, progress, love, truth, logic, and wisdom.

Since ancient times, the earthling wanted only one thing: to obtain power, to obtain power under all circumstances. Once the earthling possessed this power, he only used it for enslavement and bondage. Pugnacity was at all times his call for fighting, and the manifestation of hell his victory. Through very evil and spiritual enslaving and erroneous dogma, in mostly cult-like religious form, he created coercion and hypocrisy and expressed through it honor and freedom, but truly on meant the spiritual enslaving, gain and exploitation in every regard, and absolute dependency.

Long ago, the earthling forgot how to exhibit his true face, as he buried in himself, and lost it with the beginning of cult religious, erroneous doctrines. Hence, he only displays a colorful mask, yet, whose effect is very stale, monotonous, indifferent, decayed and masklike. Many earthlings have become like beasts or dull robots of cult-like religious, erroneous dogmas. Their last days, months and years are being spent unconsciously in dull, unknown, infinitesimal form of spiritual truth; only to maliciously and dishonestly aspire power, greed, materialism and hate, against their fellow men and themselves; only to die one day, filled with fear, disharmony and hatred, after their life clock stopped clicking. Man has arranged and articulated all things in life through his intellect and reasoning, whereby he made everything submissive, only this humility validated his ambitions and reflections hitherto. Appearance was worth more than the truth of existence. The perpetual truth of the spirit and the Creation go lost in the basic elements and early on he clung to unrealistic doctrines. In his self- delusion, enslaving erroneous doctrines were closer to hand higher than all laws and commands of Creation in all their truths and wisdom. From his extremely miserable erroneous cult-like religious philosophy of life, he was under the impression, that through repudiation of the true and creative laws and commands, and through placement of human statutory provisions, he could reform humanity in harmony with unrealistic cult-like religions, or guide humanity into a better future with living potentials. Since he lost out on the knowledge of the essence of Creation, he wanted to force humanity into existence through material means and erroneous religious doctrines. For these reasons, the mass of the terrestrial humanity was infatuated with false promises, erroneous ideals and idols in connection with cult-like religious doctrines, and soon this path led to enslavement, spiritual dependency, exploitation, hatred, greed and wickedness to the worst extent. Where there was a remainder of trust left, he soon transformed it rapidly and incessantly into wicked distrust and deadly hatred. More and more, the earthling removed himself from the true life, from the spiritual determination of creative origin. Man lost the knowledge of ancient truth and wisdom, that man is the extension of all creative things, in Creation of his own perfection of Creation itself.

By this time, the change of time and the course of a new cosmic era, evokes with pressing challenge the need, that the earthling make a reversal in his consciousness and thinking, and again turn towards the creative spiritual truth; towards the actual values of spiritual life. Until now, only a small disappearing part of humanity knew or suspected, that the human lifeform does not only inhabit the terrestrial sphere, but that he lives in all infinity of this Universe. In the same way, only a small disappearing part of humanity knows that its spirit projects itself into the spheres of Creation, which itself is the actual homeland of all spiritforms and consequently also of all mankind, in whose physical body a part of Creation itself lives.

It is truly in the interest of every human being to aspire to a spiritual expansion and depth, in order to attain and revise his existing conception of life. A conception of life, which proceeded into a pure materialistic and irrational course of faith, and through this, propelled the truth of spirit into wicked damnation. The reversal, however, will not be easy, because its path is overgrown with weeds and thorns. In decisive truths, very often, opposite ways have to be taken, because man must learn that through the existence of his creative spirit, he continually possesses and immortal part, namely spirit. A spirit which is affected by Creation and which does not play a servile part, as is explained in cult-like religions. Every human being must prove to himself, that his spirit has a creative function and that he must find in himself his perfection, in order to guarantee perfection in Creation. Those who recognize this understanding will develop an unavoidable obligation to put their own material life in the background, and to guide their spiritual existence to Creation's viewpoints, which shelter the endless continuity in their incessant transformation.

A man of truth knows no prejudice; because a preconceived opinion impedes the quest and discovery, as well as honesty itself. A man of truth knows very well, that all truth and wisdom lies in the timeless river of endless duration, so that no preconceived opinion finds authorization in existence itself. Only facts of truth are facts of truth, hence facts of truth are facts of wisdom, there is nothing but that which is integrated. This is a law in the Big Way of all that is happening, because every existence must complete itself in a circle. Cause and effect find their validity in all spheres, when they are arranged by law and order.

A preconceived opinion conceals all illogic and doubts. Hence when such a human being receives this transmission, he then must obtain clarity over a malicious human weakness, namely, he above the position of preconceived doubt and criticism, or is he still being controlled by prejudice? If he is still confused by preconceived opinions, than it behooves him to put this message aside and to leave it up to those who are free of prejudice in their quest for truth.

Everywhere in the Universe many kinds of lifeforms are manifested, and a specific law is their foundation. It is the large and invisible effect of CREATION, which brings about the endless continuance and the infinite transformation as insoluble and mysterious law. Everything that breathes in the Universe is time and spacewise bound by this insoluble and mysterious law, except for spiritual forms, which find their existence within the same law, but are not subject to time and space limitations. The spiritual form however, is creatively of Creation, so that the law of mortality does not impair them in their being.

Likewise, everything that lives on Earth is connected and subject to time and space and its law of existence. This is a connection of the material space and time ration, which, in its existence, represents intimately fused order, a regularity of transformation of space and time in material form, the beginning and passing of rough material. The perception of dissolved facts of the past in regards to terrestrial humanity, teaches, that in the very ancient past in which humanity still lived in harmony and observance of the creative laws and order, their spiritual aspects and forms completely agreed with the given natural laws, and therefore, happiness, knowledge, wisdom, peace, freedom, logic and love as well as tranquillity and satisfaction were included in intimately fused order. With the alienation of self from the truth of Creation and its law and order, and through erroneous religious doctrines however, malicious things were cultivated, for example: hatred, discord, slavery, bloodshed, envy, greed, egoism, fighting and many other spiritually unworthy appearances. Thereto the concern is to analyze and show the negative degenerative strengths, which are anchored, carried and destroyed in man, thereupon to manifest the way of truth, freedom and wisdom, which will guide him out of his spiritual desolation. This way, however, can only be registered, when at the same time the primeval and essential consciousness is made accessible why man actually lives in his form. Over the last millennium many great spirituals humans have mutated the earth and endeavored to answer the questions of How, Where and Why. Their endeavors however, were futile, and the thought concept which they transmitted is today as at all times still being tramped to sterility. Many of these teachers and teachings were knowingly or unknowingly falsified and officiated into irrational religious dogmas and therefore changed indiscernibly. Immortal truths were thus disregarded or falsified, only because in mans observance they were very uncomfortable, wherefore, to this date, he must put up with its wicked consequences. However, the conveyors, proclaimers and advocates of truth, the true prophets, go kicked, damned, cursed, deprived of their lives and disgraced. Still now, on earth, such occurrences are not over. Many New Age sages and proclaimers of truth will likewise have to endure similar things, because the masses of mankind who are misled by cult-like religions. will transfer onto them their wicked illusionary beliefs. However, mutation of time and the new cosmic era, with all its piercing truths, will help them in their struggle and bring forth victory.

The present species of mankind on earth lives in wicked exuberance of material desires and pleasures. Their consciousness of a carefree life lies only in the material world, nice clothing, elegant residence, best food and beverages, financial successes, profits and satisfying of desires and pleasures, all play a decisive role. This will be indicated by man in his erroneous thinking as "satisfied existence", of course, in absence of knowledge concerning the truth. The terrestrial human strive of the large masses of mankind goes by without exception, sometimes acquiring, as fast as possible and effortlessly, immeasurable material wealth, in order to attain power over others. The standing of material wealth, and the social and professional position in the world, determines the value of man, whereby his spiritual values, which are in truth the only values, are entirely disregarded, kicked at and labelled stupid. In this time and age, man's reputation is only assessed by financial evaluation and rank and title. The quiet and carefree old age of these humans then means the fulfillment of latter yearnings, whereby they are still proud of the height of their culture. The pride of mankind of the height of their culture relates to minimal values of material acquisition, whereby however, all values of cultural character are denied when the spiritual development is being considered. Even the exposed life of noble human existence does not find any consideration any more in relation to any cultural nomination. Egoism in its craziest form is the strongest driving motive of all human thinking, doing, governing, and this species is to cowardly to consciously know this fact and to secretly even admit it. And because the earthling lacks courage for truth, and because he lives on in degenerate hypocrisy, there is no more understanding among humans. Every being lives boxed in for himself, deceiving and condemning himself and begrudging his closest fellow man the breath of air.

Many attempts have been made to bring the earthling truth and wisdom and thereby to offer him a life of knowledge of Creation, in order to guide him towards the path of Creation and its laws and order. All attempts however, were unsuccessful, and without exception, the ships of truth were sunk and immersed in the bottomless folly of the terrestrial creatures.

The truth-searching human beings have never taken the evil by the root, hence they could never find understanding. They could not take the evil by the root, because they carried a superficial life consciousness and forfeited their actual tasks, because they replaced the twirling sources of the infinite existence through irrational religious dogmas and terminated them in insanity.

That which is timeless is eternal, and in the timeless eternity there rests truth and wisdom of creative strength and omnipotence. The closer human beings come and work themselves up to this truth, the easier it is for them to observe the laws and order in the order of Creation. Where man recognizes and observes the truth of Creation and its laws and order, there shines radiantly into his life the order of all infinite continuity. Tranquillity, peace and love become the life companions through space and time and witness perfection of creative harmony.

INNER WORTH

Truly, life is a struggle; an ever repetitious dispute with one's own Self. The actual diverting effects, which are conspicuously reflected upon, are always trying push themselves in between; however, the actual reason incessantly always breaks through. Overshadowing, covered, diverted, overloaded, filled up; it is always here, ready to break through the piled up confusion and if it is sometimes only hinted at to show one's smile, which stands above everything, invulnerable, looking down how man degrades himself, reducing himself to ashes.

The Self of man is the most precious pearl, the biggest treasure, the hidden one, which he carries within, in his innermost Self, the philosophers stone.

It is silver and gold, but is not made of it; it speaks to man, and most of the times is not heard by man. It is the eternal light, the light of the biggest time in all obscurity and gloom which surrounds man. It wants to turn man into King, but man violates it. The yearning of all men convulsively search for it outside of themselves. And yet, it is very near in every single being.

The union with it makes man at first procreative, and with it he can create everything. However, in the millennium years, only individual ones were connected to it and through that created great understanding for all who were the cause of development.

The impulses and motives formed the terrestrial world and environment, transformed and through that created always better external conditions, whereby the internal ones withered away and disappeared. In today's New Age, a reverse movement will indeed be necessary, which will return to the inner values and immortal treasures that man searched for a very long time, outside of Self. Man lost the correct proportion thereby, and he had to learn to find it again, in order to balance all extremes and finally advance to the essential, which is the reason why man lives on this earth. Therefore, any and all of those who look much further will be recognized and respected by stragglers. The number of all those who err and always err again is infinitely big. And one has to ask the question how many errors and mistakes are still necessary, until the last human on earth finally comprehends where the path actually should and truly will lead to.

In reality, life is truly a struggle, both in joy and love.

Only sometimes may we forget and be hit by the spell of topics, completely fascinated by the external growing and passing over from the up and down and to and from of all necessary motion, which are transforming and thereby also do not exempt the human being. The only hope is the ineluctable and the higher, joyful goal of passing over into the next higher class, where instructions and the practical test continue. Therefore, you should be told, you who read these words, human of the earth: Do your duty now and particularly now, in this moment, and give yourself to what is due you. Favored skills allow you, earthling, momentary glimpses into the beauty of spirit, whose sensations at certain moments you sometimes may seize. For this purpose, to be the speed, easy type of this uncramped type, is an urgent prerequisite.

AN IMPORTANT WORD

In every single earthling glows inextinguishably the yearning for security of knowledge, especially the security of knowing about ones being and life beyond the material existence, which man calls death. This security of knowledge can truly be perceived by every human being when he conquers his own ego, because in truth it is only the fog of the ego which prevents the prospect to the kingdom of the true life, the spiritual, beyond the mutation of being and passing over. This because, the ego, the I, places too much importance on its own welfare, until, for most of them, it develops into self addiction. Thus, the doubts and uncertainties will hang over every individual, as well as over the entire humanity on earth, like heavy thunderstorm clouds, from which for the earthling uncalculably will break thunder and lightning strokes; brought into existence through egoism and materialism, and all other humanly unworthy things, to which he has become submissive, and by which he has been imprisoned. To control these should be the first order for man, because only when through recognition of the truth the sun of love lifts up on the horizon of the human psyche, which incarnates a notorious manifestation of the spirit of life, when henceforth the clouds are removed, man recognized how close he is to the security of knowledge and how unfounded his fear and anguish really were. Unfortunately, still at the present time, for many human beings only the death of the physical body signifies the beginning of the actual life and consequently the gradual radiation of the inner radiance.

However, upon occurrence of the next incarnation, through ignorance in the previous life, the same can come true again, if improvement in a previous life was not laboriously worked on. Only through a true inner re-birth can the gloom of the absolute or imperfect lack of light within the earth-experience be terminated, when mankind sees the light of inner consciousness, and when the effect of the spirit of life does no longer appear as gloomy destiny, which is personally being created in malformation. When eventually the inner radiance shines, he will recognize the invisible, the power of the spirit in its unlimited strength as the true effect, whilst the effective perception already disappears as patterns, nevertheless, remains as continuous and animated recollection, in order to be effective, to serve in a evolutionary manner. It is still the case with many earthlings, that naked fear lurks behind all love and loving oneness, fear above all from the loss of love, fear from the passing of a loved one, fear from separation and re-union, and above all, fear from change from this plane to the beyond. To these fears are bonded those of pain from the irrational knowledge and erroneous doctrine, that all life always falls to death and constantly lives off other lives, which it should and must destroy, in order to be oneself. A truly terrible thought, yet it is only of earthen-human nature, arisen from the non-understanding of the true truth, for all life lives off the other life, so far that is correct, however though, life does not murder other life in order to exist and live oneself. One life is placed under and helps the other, only to , at the given time, be placed under passing over after it has accomplished its time and duty. Life is not a continuous sacrifice and sacrificial becoming, as the earthling so erroneously assumes and through relating erroneous doctrines fortifies. Rather, in truth it is a growing and passing over in the sense of continual advancing evolution and purely in the spirit of the creative rules, laws and order, under which Creation in every relation itself is classified. Also, it is a question of continual rebirth and renewing in the wheel of passing over and being. Thus passing over, death, suffices through the heart of life, in the same manner projects life, growing, deep down into the heart of death, whereby two kingdoms complement one another, which simultaneously conquer and gradually bring one another to understanding. The purpose of life is not to overcome each individual passing over to death, but to overcome through evolution the necessity of passing over to death, which is a means of rest of growth for the spirit. It works towards the upward evolution of all that originated, towards that which is immortally effected in the innermost of innumerable myriads of life-forms, for the end result of all Creations, for Creation, for universal consciousness. The real consciousness of life in the material domain is simply seen as : Self conquering of the perpetual dominating ego and joined evolution in the wholeness of spirit. To conquer oneself therefore means, that man must help himself to victory of his highest being, in order to recognize again another higher self, namely the creative self to which man will be awakened through and even higher evolution. Certainly, this is one of the toughest tasks of human life, yet also the most beautiful, most valuable and productive. For behind this task awaits the human being the greatest security of knowledge of his entire existence beyond all exterior and physical forms of existence. Because the human spirit of life that is in him is a partial piece of the spiritual energy of Creation, it is of value, that he recollects this creative root of his being, in order to reunite in true intensification with the greatest self knowledge in himself, for to be one with the spirit of life in himself, with the partial piece of Creation in himself, means to be absolutely free, hence also free from fear of passing over to death. To be one with the partial piece of Creation man himself also means; to recognize behind the exterior human ego, the other ego, namely, the creative Self. It is with certainty the greatest for the inwardly unprepared, but truly the most fearful that can happen to the human being, namely to truly see and recognize oneself, one's oldest own ego, which reaches over all spheres and boundaries and floats over all consciousness into the greatest temporality and humanly inconceivable regions of Creation. But whoever unites with the partial piece of Creation, with spirit itself, loosens the fearful, yet truly innocent enigma of passing over, of death, so that he recognizes death only as the other side of life, which does not mean anything else but sleep in the physical realm, which replaces the awakening of the day. Only the human absurdity, the unknowing and its blindness believe, that sleep is the darker side of life, wherefore its relation to death is also of the same opinion. Certainly, still various other factors reflect themselves in the fear of death, however, to name them all would be nonsensical. It is most important for the human to understand that to manifest the partial piece of Creation within himself with all clearness and truth, will gain him the comfort and certainty of everlasting spiritual life throughout eternity.

Imperturbably, the human being should direct his glance towards the tasks of his earth life, with the perception, that the kingdom of gross matter rules on this plane and the kingdom of fine matter on the other plane, nevertheless, that the divided kingdoms of this plane and the other plane are one singular kingdom, existing in the same place, yet in the same space of time. Surely, the total sum of neediness and suffering on the planet earth is seemingly much bigger than that of pleasure and happiness. But this is only a false conclusion of man himself, which, through transmitted and implanted erroneous doctrines has become his dangerous notion, that this is a fact. Not at all, however, because neediness and suffering as well as pleasure and happiness always hold one another in their dimension in balance. Through sole erroneous thinking, man over evaluates neediness and suffering, registers it and keeps it in constant remembrance, whereas he forgets all too quickly the pleasurable and happy events and therefore loses them. Man has yet to move in balance concerning these matters and to register negativity as well as positivity in like manner and to preserve in memory. In the opposite case the same holds true, where man purely only keeps the positive, the beautiful, luck, love and prettiness in his recollection. Likewise here, there is no balance between the negative and positive, whereby one form versus the other takes the upper hand, through which a non assimilation or no equation is produced, which means, that again a factor prevails. In spite of that, man is able to see and recognize his destiny as a human being, so that he can change the situation and from the occurrence of the gloominess obtain an island of radiance and of security. The need for worry of concern about the length of time, for until the realization of the highest goal, millennium of years may tumble into the past. Millennium of years are given and attached to man, in order to smooth out his wrinkled face of his homeland world, but yet he must at the present time be devoted to the tendered change of intervention of the evolutionary goal, to truly grasp the benevolent hand and the presented knowledge in truth and to work the goal through.

Semjase Speaks on the Spiritual Teachings;

On Tuesday, April 15th , 1975 Billy had his 11th contact with Semjase, the cosmonaut from the Pleiades. She explained to Billy that the teaching of Spiritual knowledge was the most important task of her mission and that she wished to continue with her thoughts today. The following excerpts are taken directly from Billys notes, no editing has been done to Semjases statements.

NOTE: the line numbers are from the original German text for reference.

Semjase speaks to Billy...

54. Now, I would like to continue with other things, whereby I would like to suggest, that you take more care physically and that you exhaust yourself less.

55. Your spirit may only then pass the test valuably in this life, when your physical body too is healthy.

56. Please pay attention.

57. Now I will continue with the spiritual teaching: The truly spiritual striver is a noble artist.

58. Of delicate spirit, soft being, full of love, knowledge, wisdom and large consciousness he is extremely sensitive to truth, balance, beauty and spiritual progress.

59. His life is mastered, explained and elevated, and his perspectives are very ample.

60. His whole consciousness is magnanimous, and beauty is expressed in its simple life full of spiritual dignity.

61. His inner peace contains a beauty, which no artist is able to paint, and no poet able to describe.

62. His spiritual purity exerts an attractive power, which can not be expressed through any, not ever so, harmonious music.

63. His security can not be compared to anything, and his striving and goal can not be terminated by any boundaries.

64. His wisdom is a constantly present light, which shines into the deepest darkness.

65. It is not like the day light, which is overpowered by the darkness of the night.

66. It is not similar to the light of a great human thinker, which always fails, and this very often, when he requires it mostly.

67. Its presence is an omnipresent fragrance of eternity, which never ceases, whereby the fragrance of the most beautiful and sweet scented rose or orchid of the world vanishes and disappears into the times of infinity.

68. It is absolutely untrue, that the human being is the extent of all things, because the extent of all things is spirit.

69. The human being itself is a multiple being and his various shells conceal to others his true individuality.

70. Indeed, he may identify himself with his coarse material physical body and be in accordance with its needs, and he may equalize himself to the conscious intellect, or he may feel his unity with the true self, which is eternal immortal witness of both, however, he is not able to create himself.

71. All the vital purposes as valuable as they may be in their human place, can not keep the spiritual essence under their enslavement and subjugate them, without bringing the originally particular personality into total confusion.

72. The material intellect, with all its given boundaries, takes highest priority in the non spiritual being, and as a consequence, has therefore a tremendously slow evolution of spirit.

73. The spiritual intellect must be developed entirely consciously, because it takes more then just thinking to move itself into higher forms.

74. The human material intellect is only able to move in a vicious circle of possibilities.

75. He is always stuck on the surface of the object, and is not able to penetrate it and to become one with it, because without a complete identity of the object, its knowledge is absolutely impossible.

76. If such a human being wants to get to know his fellow creatures, then he must identify with it. And if a human being wants to know a subject, then he must identify with it.

77. The material intellect accepts the evidence of the material consciousness and its deducted conclusions therefrom, however, rejects the deepest subjective suggestions.

78. Profound insight unfolds to the human being the knowledge, that there is more to him than what his ordinary consciousness procures, something, which is the origin of all thoughts, sensations and emotions, a more refined spiritual presence, which will leave him always unsatisfied with mere material endeavors.

79. The doctrine, that the simple material condition of man is not the true and final stage of life, that he possesses a deeper, penetrating life within life, a true self, an important spirit, a light, which nothing can extinguish, as always claimed the spiritual thinkers of all times and all universes over all eternity.

80. All great spiritual thinkers of all universes always claim the challenge, to know the true self, the life of life.

81. Even though the body organism changes every moment, and thoughts bubble up like a gust of wind and then disappear, the true self never gets lost.

82. It penetrates completely everything, although it is entirely different from everything, because its form is purely spiritual.

83. It is the fundamental origin of all identity experience through innumerable mutations.

84. It takes in all things in every kind and form, but still remains itself unchangeable and in eternal proportion of its own greatness.

85. It is an unchangeable greatness within the manifold activities of the universe and universes in general.

86. The human limited personality is only conscious of itself from time to time, in between lie gaps of consciousness.

87. Even when death reaches man, the see-er and discernor within him, the spirit, can not die, for as part of Creation it is of infinite duration.

88. Nothing can touch the observing subjective self on the objective side.

89. The existing self for eternal times, which is the life of the life, can indeed not be proven materialistically, because its form is of pure spiritual form and nature, however, for a reasoning talented being no proof is required, for the spirit itself is its own evidence.

90. Only human beings who live in spiritual poverty demand therefore proof for the existence of spirit, because in their spiritual primitivity, they are not able to recognize the existence from the spiritual deeds and occurrences.

91. The spirit itself is the basic foundation of all knowing events, and itself animates each organ and each capability, out of the urge for development and continual life.

921. The spirit, this universal self, is being mistaken for the empiric self, because of mental impurities.

93. When the human being penetrates the surrounding veil of the self, and takes off the shell of the material urge, which limit and cover it, he obtains instantaneously, in the physical body, the destiny of his self.

94. The inner spiritual self, the life of life itself, which is infinitely simple and uncomplicated, forms a unity of transcendental reality, perception, knowledge, wisdom, love and freedom.

95. Man is not only a biological phenomenon.

96. In him is a spiritual conditional physical organism in spiritual form, which is charged with latent potentials, with the power of all creative force.

97. A philosophical insight in the physical consciousness of man forces one to recognition and knowledge of the reality of the cosmic consciousness, of the creative life force, as basis and life of psychic essence.

98. The human being may not only grasp the human being based upon his biological and mental level, but he must also conceive the psychic and spiritual plane.

99. Everything which the human being inherits, everything which he carries forth from millennium existences from the past, everything which he enjoyed, knew, read about, learned or experienced, in this or in a past life, is buried in his subconscious mind.

100. Why then, does he not control the technics of concentration, and why does he not control his subconscious and make full use of his knowledge and know how.

101. The yearning for all his knowledge and know how of his experiences and wisdom are but buried deep inside himself.

102. He must only recognize the truth and accept it, to also acknowledge it and make use of it.

103. For that purpose, however, it is necessary to control ones own stupidity and to recognize, that material intellect does not make the being, unless cooperation is also made with the spiritual intellect in the same proportion.

104. When this happens, and the human being recognizes his spirit, then the complete knowledge and wisdom, freedom, love and peace, which were collected in previous lives, will resurrect and be of ample benefit to him.

105. Knowledge, power, strength, wisdom, freedom and love are the creative inheritance of the absolute; they are the human beings birth right.

106. He is a center of thoughts, power, strength and influence over everything and everyone.

107. He has indeed a body, but he is not the body itself.

108. The body is only an instrument and a servant of the spirit; his dwelling, but not his prison.

109. The body is the temple of the radiating spirit, the self luminous inner life, the creative self.

110. The body is the castle of the spirit, which brings all strengths into motion.

111. The human being knows therefore, that he breathes the breath of the spirit and not the bodily breath.

112. The human being perceives his spirit only through meditation, through inner contemplation (introspection), through deep immersion into the calmest chambers of the spiritual self, whilst he directly views the mirror of the inner life.

113. However, he may not do it in such a way as the earthling is led to believe by religious swindlers and imposters, because this meditation is no spiritual vision, but only fanciful freeing of irrational imaginative wishes.

114. Real meditation in spiritual form necessitates an acquired comprehension of ones own being and self, a viewing of both facts, that the existence of the eternal reality and truth, and the deep rooted unity of all manifestation from start to the form of substance, from nature to the spiritual life, are all together in one creative balance.

115. Every human being is in his innermost essence, a manifestation of Creation, therefore it is possible for everyone to become one with the infinite.

116. The reflection of these truths of the essential existence of creativity produce knowledge and certainty.

117. The direct vision of truth substitutes all useless objections; the realization of the truth makes everything clear to refinement and is self explanatory.

118. Life on earth does not offer the human being full contentment, it is not complete Allness; the reality of life is found beyond the material.

119. The material life serves only as a ladder in order to obtain the hereafter, the spiritual.

120. The material life is only the territory of activity, which delivers the human being's conditions and purposes, to resume relationships with the spirit and the greatest, the Creation.

121. It is completely erroneous to limit the view of vision of life on the perceptive phenomenons, and to let the appreciation be determined by the objective value of things.

122. The sovereignty and greatness of life depend upon how far they are elevated to the law of the innermost life in the highest being.

123. The relations between humans are only justified as long as they are not diverted from the eternal laws of the spiritual nature.

124. Neither social well being, nor national improvements are possible through mere pinning oneself onto shadows, and not paying attention to the essential substance.

125. The heart of the truth does not belong to any individual alone, because the truth shapes being and life of altogether everything that exists.

126. Only that which is oneness and joint together can be indivisible and singularly contracted within a self identifying existence.

127. This is the full extent of the achieved and the culmination point of all aspirations and ideals of life.

128. In this integral spiritual conception of life, the ethical basis of the social and domestic relation is deeply rooted.

129. Society is the totality of individuals, thereto appointed to pierce through the veil and to enter into the kingdoms of the immortal being, into Creation itself.

130. The human relations signify nothing more than the endeavor to live the daily life in a spiritual form, which is present in the deep background of all existing beings, but which can not be found in absence of the truth.

131. Therefore, the love for the spiritual gets lost more and more, and the humans consciousness turns more and more to the material and his material intellect.

132. Altruistic love is the expression of the visible accord with the infinite life, which rests in the entire universe.

133. If the family, or society, or the nation is comprehended as a means of separation from one another, then such a family, society or nation can never be successful, no matter how big the goal of unity of the human being may be.

134. Every connection, even the smallest, must flow into the absolute unity, which does not exclude one iota of itself.

135. This truth must be present during every work day of the human being, when his doings and actions, and his thoughts are free from selfishness and should be in harmony with the universal happenings.

136. Life is an apprenticeship of the spirit for the spirit.

137. The proper behavior of the family, and the administration of the land and society build a part of the universal determinations, which have endowed the totality of human beings with strict unbiased rules.

138. The human being lives because Creation exists, and his life must become balanced and perfect, as balanced and perfect as Creation itself.

139. The human being lives in the Creative being, he breathes and hovers in it.

140. The lack of spiritual awareness, which makes life worth living, or the need for a practical life philosophy and life psychology in todays age is often responsible for the human beings crisis in life and his lack of self importance.

141. For a long time, man has made great efforts to find peace and freedom; however, till now all his efforts have withered away and vanished fruitlessly.

142. Due to absence of true knowledge and truth of a healthy sensible way of living, which would give him inner balance and peace, he has devoted himself to abnormal destructive ideologies, dangerous and harmful religious philosophies which guide him into even greater spiritual poverty and steer him away from actual life.

143. The humans natural common sense however, rebels against having the circle of unsuitable irrational religious dogmas be pressed into the quadrant of the demanding truth, which is being brought into existence, particularly in the New Age of the Aquarian era, through new religious fanatics and deceivers, however, the religious lunacy is presently still diffused too strongly, in order to be able, to a great extent, to establish a useful defense.

144. The religious crazy philosophies with their colossal disorders and illusionary claims degrade the inner strength in the human being, which maintains the spirit of man and helps him to surpass his striving and himself, to bring to blossom and make it possible for him to obtain inner growth and peace, which are in correct proportion to the outer achievements and opportunities.

145. In answer to a long perceived necessity, humans who erroneously are being denoted as guiding thinkers, have here and there under taken personal, but dangerous efforts to extract the best from religions and to bring it into unity with modern thinking, in order to work out a new philosophy of life and psychology for todays mankind.

146. However, these alleged and irrational thinkers do not observe, that through that, they once more, out of ignorance, multiply the religious lunacy, that they are themselves wickedly caught in irrational religions and consequently are only able to think and act: Irrationally, insanely, superstitiously, murder like and spiritually poor.

147. Due to obvious reasons, their success is very often zero.

148. But the New Age human being, the man and woman of the Aquarian era, if now faced with an easily solvable problem, because if he now lays the foundation of truth, then he obtains a completely new structure of philosophical and psychological value for a happy, free and peaceful spiritual life in the future.

149. A free, spiritual life, which is based upon everything which represents the best in the cultural and spiritual heritage for earth, the spiritual truth.

150. When the earthling finally acknowledges this truth, to make himself completely free from each and every religion, and their irrational imaginations, and adjusts finally to the spiritual and creative laws, then he has won.

151. Only the truth is serviceable and brings mankind progress; religion, however, does not serve the human being and throws him back in to deepest gloom.

Questions & Answers

This section is for the many questions I receive both in the mail and in lectures. Since many people seem to ask many of the same questions I try to put those in the newsletter so we can all share.

If you have a specific question just drop me a note. If I feel its something that would go well in the newsletter I will show it here. If you have a personal question be sure It won't be in print as I will answer in a letter.

Since the theme of this newsletter is the spiritual information passed on to us by the Pleiadians I will cover questions dealing with this subject.

If you would like to write in please use this address...

Q. Are spirit and soul the same thing?

A. Yes, the more common phrase found within religions and common day belief structures is the word "soul". This refers to what we call the "spirit" which is the more accurate term. The Universe we live in is called the "CREATION" by the Pleiadians. This term is used since the Universe is alive and evolving on its own path of growth through the Creation of new life forms. The energy which creates the many different parts of the Universe is called Spiritual energy. You and I are called spirit forms, since we are a specific form of energy that is part of the original spiritual energy which is creating the Universe.

Q. Is there such a thing as Spiritual death?

A. No, the spirit cannot die since it is a part of the infinite energy of the Creation itself. When the Creation begins to form what we call the Universe, there are no physical or material objects, only Spiritual energy that will create them. Creation then begins the evolution cycle by creating life forms that it has the knowledge and use for. In the beginning this is only the gaseous matter that becomes the nebulae that makes the suns and planets. The evolution of the Creation is a very slow process since it must reason and learn how to create every new life form in order to grow itself. Other words when the Creation is in the gaseous state it must reason and determine how to make a more complex life form in order to grow. In this case the next major step is suns and then planets. It takes a very long time for the Creation to reason and understand how to do this. You see it is on a spiritual path of growth itself. It cannot do what it does not logically understand so it must learn by doing just as we do. You see spiritual growth is not reading a book and agreeing with the words. Its not thinking about the words and forming your own conclusions. You cannot feed your spirit untruthful information, and the source of the information is the Creation itself. Creation has already figured out the answers or it couldn't have made us. Spiritual growth is when the logical conclusions you have made are correct according to Creation, which is the real facts of how things work within Creation, and then become part of your life by living and experiencing life using the conclusions you have come to. So it is not enough to read a book and agree with it. You must make the effort to test out your conclusions with Creation through Meditation and then make them part of your life by living by them. Then this knowledge will be added to your spirit and is carried forward from lifetime to lifetime. Your spirit carries the knowledge and wisdom, freedom and love and peace which has been collected from lifetime to lifetime. These things that you have learned so far are within your spirit right now. It is only for you to unlock the door to regain these knowledges so they can be used in your current life. You are a spiritual being creating multiple material lifetimes in order to grow. The logic and pattern of our lives, both physical and spiritual, is following the same pattern dictated by the Creation itself.

What we think of as physical death is the just the spirit going to sleep to cogitate what is has learned. You do the same thing everyday on a smaller scale. We call it sleep. Your spirit will never stop, it just changes forms. After awhile the knowledge that you need to continue evolving can no longer be learned by information which your physical senses gather so the material lifetimes are not longer needed. At this point the death cycle stops and spiritual life continues without the material body. Millions of years go by in the spiritual state as the spirit continues to grow. Spirits then come together and ultimately grow back into Creation and are no longer spiritforms. They are once again back within Creation. So there is no death on the spiritual level, only continual growth through feeding your spirit with the food called "truth".

Q. What happens to our spirit when we die, and where does it go?

A. Try to remember that you are a spiritual being traveling through a series of material lives. The spirit doesn't die but continues to grow. The spirit creates the material lives in order to learn, reason and to grow. The spirit is the life force which creates the body and dictates its growth. The spirit must sustain the material body with its own energy. The material body degenerates and gets old, the spirit does not degenerate. At a certain point the spirit can no longer sustain the material life and needs to rest and contemplate. This is what death is. Think of it as spiritual sleep. When the material death occurs and the spirit leave the body, (which is always within 72 hours I understand), it does not leave the earth but stays here in a spirit form. The material senses no longer exist as the body is dead, so the spirit has only its own consciousness and sub consciousness to work with. It then cogitates, as Billy calls it, the things it has learned and rests until it is ready to create another material life.

Q. How long do you stay on the other side until you come back in material life?

A. Under normal circumstances if you have lived a long life and die from natural causes you should fall into the averages. The Pleiadians told Billy that the average earth human being stays on the other side for 152 years at the current time. There are of course exceptions to this rule. The longer you live and the more you grow spiritually, the slower you will come back. This is because the spirit needs more time to cogitate and rest. If you die young and do not learn much you will be back faster. The Pleiadians said a very fast return would be about 15 years. You can see where the logic of this serves to balance out so we are all growing at about the same rate.

Q. Does our current personality ever come back?

A. No, your current personality is a passing thing which disappears with the material body. Remember that personality is something that is unique depending on your environment, growth and lifes experiences. Since your spirit carries forward knowledge, wisdom and love these things also have an effect on your new personality making it somewhat similar to the last one. Your spirit also carries some information on how to create the body. The spirit enters the body during the first 3 weeks of pregnancy and at some point begins to send information to the DNA to help build the body and the brain. Billy told me that if you could see pictures of yourself through many lifetimes that you would notice that the eyes stay much the same as well as the face around the eyes. I have seen photos in Switzerland of one of the FIGU members from a former life and its bears a striking resemblance to the current life.

So bear this in mind when you hear people talking about how the a certain personality or religious leader may be returning. He will have little or know awareness of his previous life and will be creating a new personality all over again. The knowledge and wisdom and love are still within the spirit and can be reached with practice, but your personality is new.

Q. Why can't we remember our past lives?

A. Past life information is kept within the spirit. This information is basically knowledge, wisdom, love and peace. This knowledge and wisdom and love make the differences in us. We are all on different paths of learning and experience. We learn things at different times and for different reasons. There is no reason to remember most of our previous life as the majority of it is all the "untruth" that didn't get into our spirit. Your spirit will not accept untruth, it cannot be sick, and it cannot degenerate under normal circumstances. We all enter the body during the first 3 weeks of pregnancy with a fresh start and a healthy body and mind. Any diseases or mental problems come after that and are not due to the spirit. Much of our lives are difficult, even traumatic or worse. To remember material suffering, hate, anger, prejudice and illogical thinking would only serve to make most of us insane. This is a built in protection against insanity as we all get a fresh start safe from previous material discomforts.

If you want to reunite yourself with the knowledge, wisdom and love from your previous lives you can do so. This information is within your spirit and can be found on purpose through meditation. Through meditation you can learn to shut off the material senses and get in touch with your spirit. In this state where you are in balance and clear thinking you can get in touch with your spirit and regain your knowledge, wisdom and love that is in there. I think much of this information comes to us naturally through dreams and that little voice we call "a hunch". If we just learn to "pause" and listen to that little voice, you can draw not only on clearer thinking but on your accumulated knowledge and wisdom. You see intelligence and aptitude are no accident, but reflections of the knowledge, wisdom and love within our spirit that has been accumulating through all of our lives. You see as spirits were all really very loving and wonderful people who have the common bond of Creation within us. Its the material life that makes things so difficult.

Thank you for the opportunity to share with you as I continue on with my own path of growth. Writing this newsletter serves to help me better understand this material and helps me grow as I make it part of my life through the experience of explaining it to you. Words are powerful tools that help us sort out ourselves and keep us on track. We can examine ourselves by our words and deeds and keep our thinking clear by being honest and truthful with ourselves.

I hope you enjoyed this issue. I hope to get out the next issue in December for a special reason. Christmas is centered around the birth and life of Jesus Christ. I think it would be nice to share with you the real story of Jesus as explained to me by Billy. Who he was and what he had to say about life and death. I plan to devote the next issue to the life of Jesus. I have a picture of him drawn by Semjase as well as notes made by him during his lifetime that were given to Billy. I will share this with you next time. If you have any particular questions about Jesus that you would like answered, write my and I will try and answer them. If I can.

Goodbye and Saalome;
